BOND MARKET

INDO BOND MARKET REBOUND POST US E

Indo bond market, as reflected by Indobex Govt total return index, rebounded by 4.7 bps on Friday's session. US employment data release has shown a more benign US employment report compared to last month, with +275k jobs during February, with unemployment rising to 3.9% (from 3.7% in previous month). Average hourly earning softened to 0.1% Mom/4.3% YoY. US yield rose gradually after employment data release. However, we need to look at one more US inflation data release before FOMC meeting on 20 March 2024 to judge the tone of US fed officials. Going into long weekend holiday, Indo bond market is still resilient with BI supporting the bond market, thus keeping domestic yield at rangebound, amid global uncertainty caused by less dovish US Fed expectation, strong USD, as well as domestic challenge caused by rising food price, weakening IDR due to portfolio flow and expectation of dividend repatriation.
